All Saints' Marseilles parishioners enjoying the parish pot-luck lunch

But in an attempt to recognize this, during our congregational lunch, Anne Roumieu proposed that we raise our glasses and toast Queen Elizabeth for her outstanding commitment to the service of her people. UK citizens and Marseillais alike jumped to their feet and raised their glasses in union.

As part of our Sunday parish lunch, it was acknowledged that this week marks a special occasion in the UK. This coming Thursday, our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth's reign will exceed that of Queen Victoria and our current monarch will become the longest reigning monarch in the history of England. I am sure there will be a lot more in the press concerning this.
